

Hiragana Mini Card

When you learn Hiragana, you need to distinguish between recognition and writing. Recognition is not demanding whereas writing is a bit. I would recommend you to start with the practice of recognition first to be able to read words, and then gradually move on to writing.

It is a very good idea to create your own Hiragana cards and practice with them. However, if you create by yourself, your handwriting tends to have various errors. So here is my idea - let's use half made Hiragana cards. You can colour them - some of my students use colour code to make the learning easier and more interesting - , put annotation on the back, or even have them laminated (Laminate the whole sheet and cut it into each piece. The plastic coating would not go off).

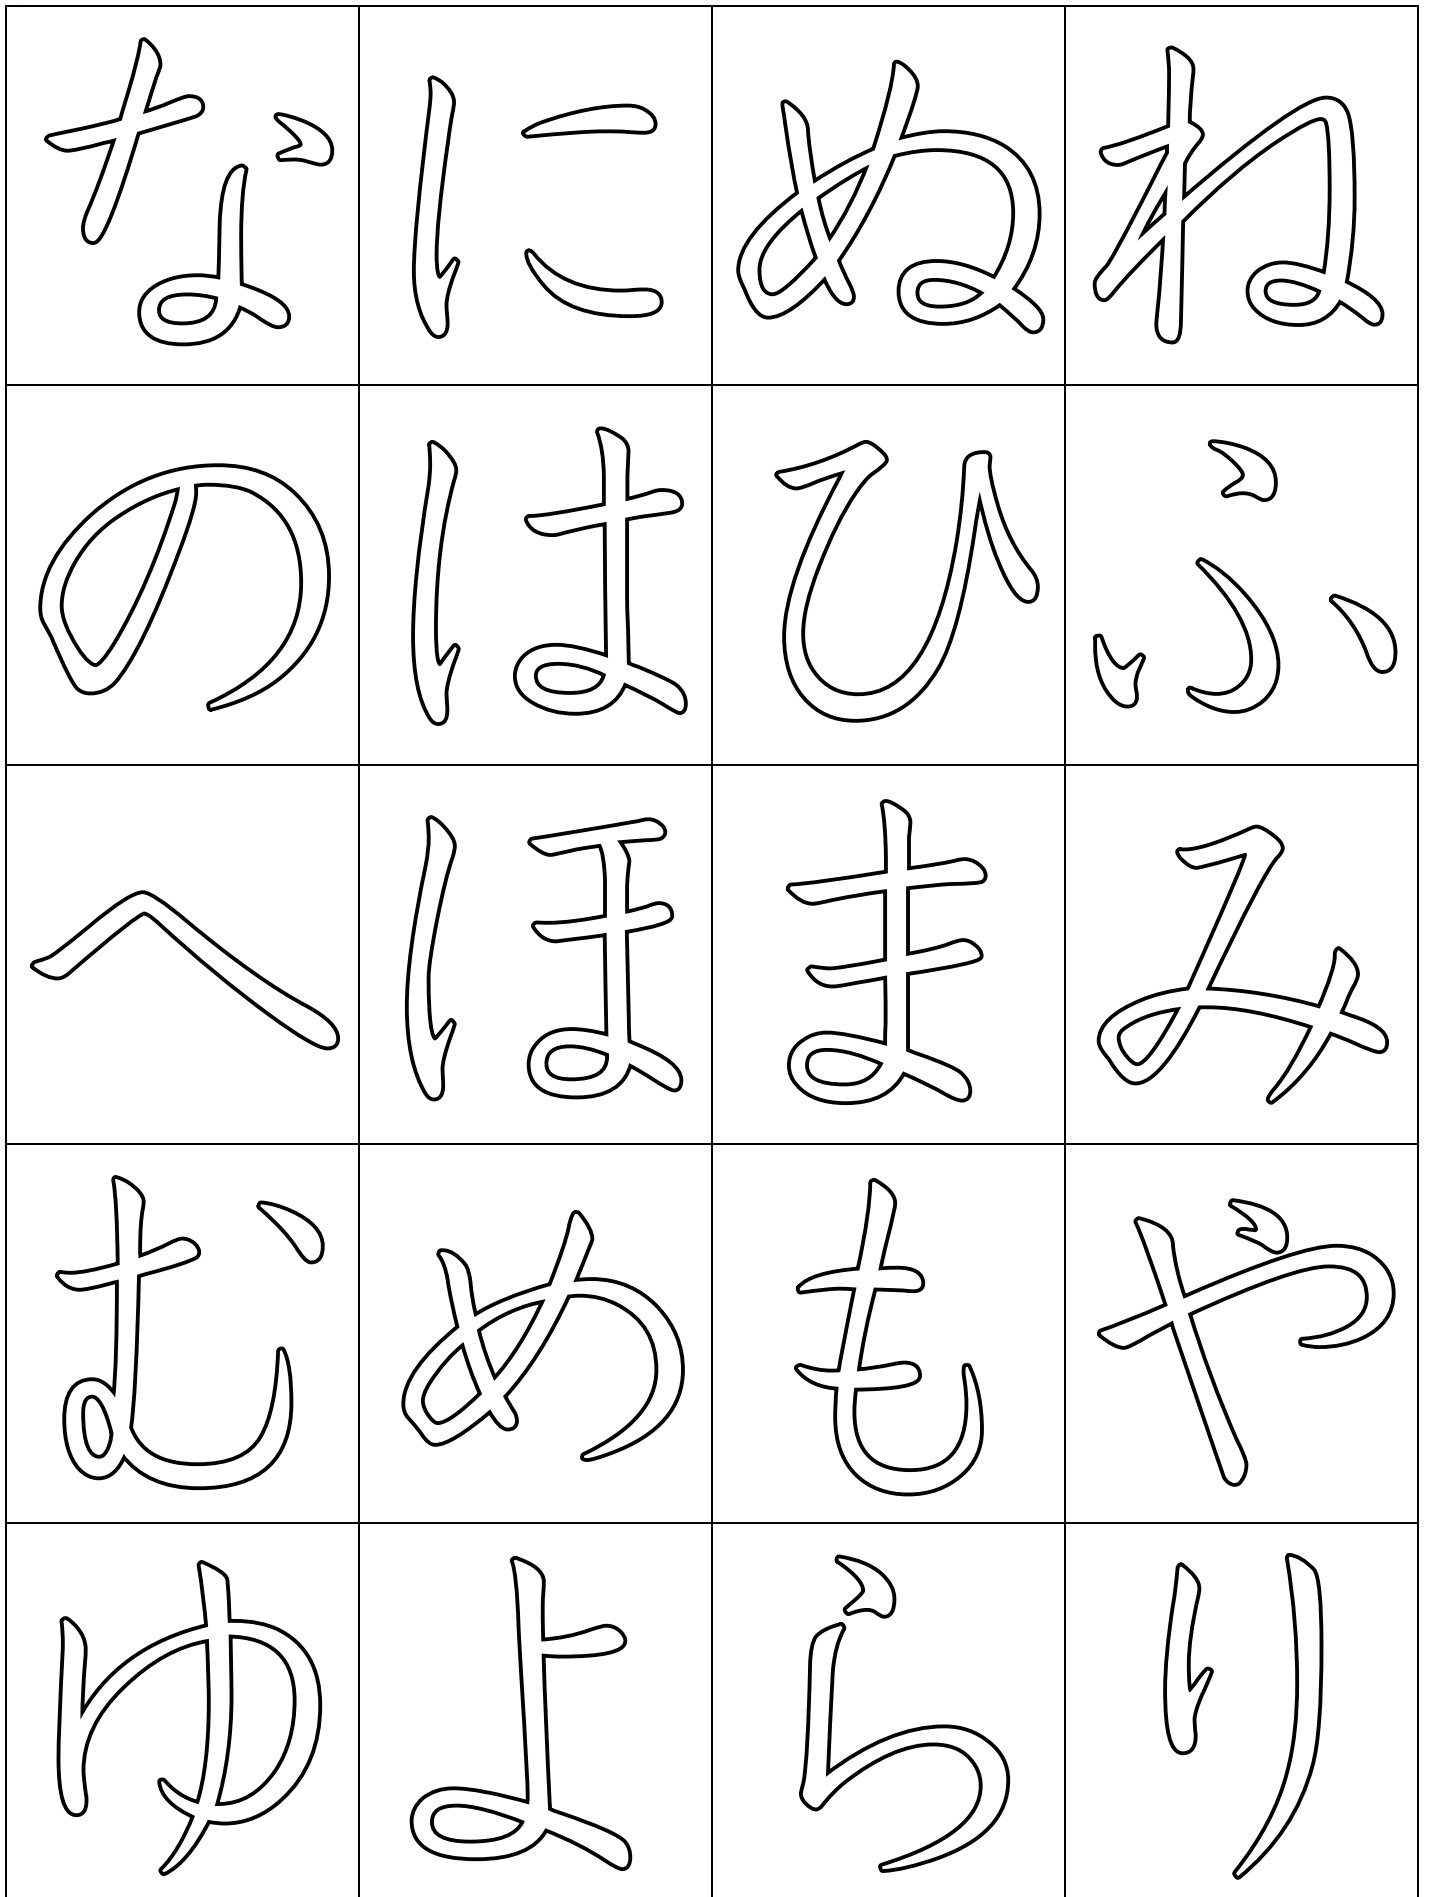

I hope this Hiragana mini cards would make your Japanese learning more accessible and easier.

Copyright

I will retain my copyright. The use of this teaching material is limited within educational uses. You can make no profit by producing or using this material.

Tadashi Sakai
Wolverhampton Girls' High School

あ	い	う	え
お	か	か	く
け	こ	か	し
す	せ	そ	た
ち	つ	て	と

る	れ	ろ	わ
を	ん	か	が
く	げ	く	が
じ	ず	ぜ	ぞ
た	ち	し	て

